

Here I enrolled in Insurance, I have to create a dashboard and storytelling board in Tableau.

A dashboard is very easy to use and read. An insurance policy statement is a form of outlining the policyholder's insurance coverage. The statement asserts that a person had insurance on a specific date.

Many types of insurance policies are offered to consumers. People buy life insurance, auto insurance, health insurance and homeowner's insurance.

Whenever a policy is taken out, the insurance company sends the consumer a copy of it.

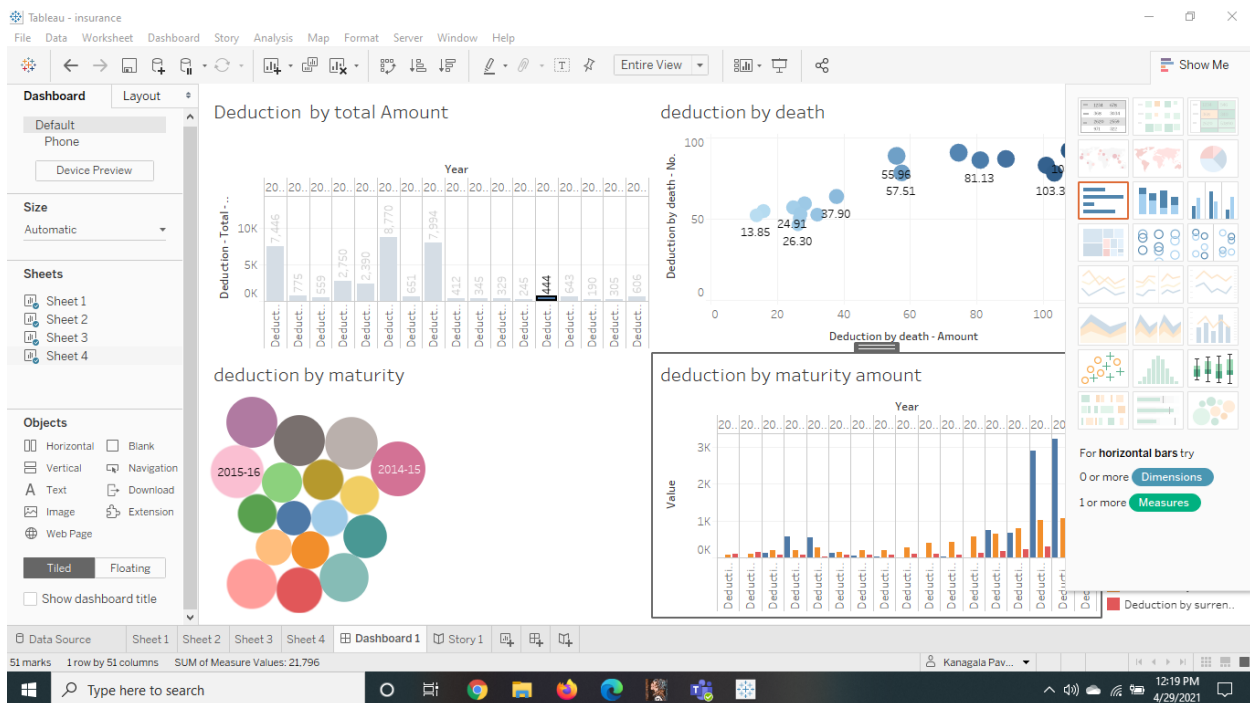

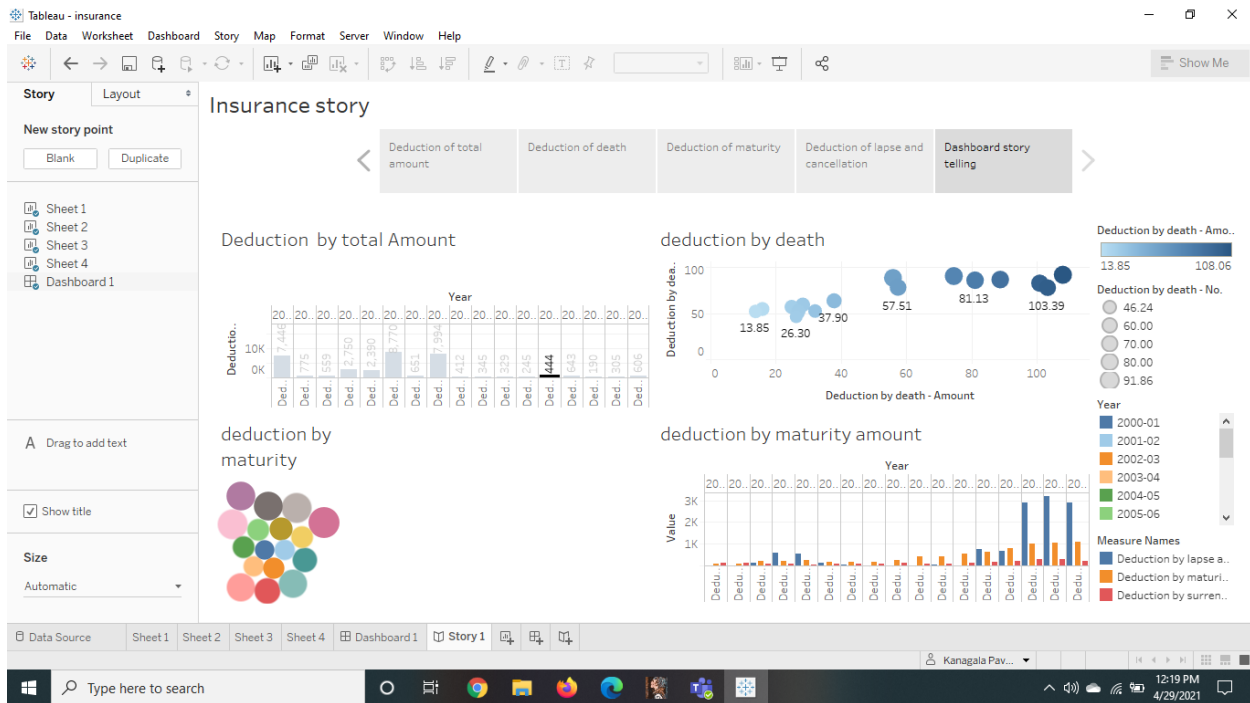

An insurance policy statement contains a lot of information. It tells the policyholder every detail of the coverage, protection and liability. If it is for auto insurance, the policy lists the vehicles covered, the amount of coverage and the deductibles.

If a person needs to provide proof of insurance as of a specific date, she fills out an insurance policy statement. This statement shows the person's insurance coverage and the dates covered. This is often done after a car accident to prove a driver had insurance at the time of the accident.

Insurance is a contract, represented by a policy, in which an individual or entity receives financial protection or reimbursement against losses from an insurance company. The company pools clients' risks to make payments more affordable for the insured.

There is a multitude of different types of insurance policies available, and virtually any individual or business can find an insurance company willing to insure them for a price. The most common types of personal insurance policies are auto, health, homeowners, and life. Most individuals in the United States have at least one of these types of insurance, and car insurance is required by law.

Businesses require special types of insurance policies that insure against specific types of risks faced by a particular business. For example, a fast-food restaurant needs a policy that covers damage or injury that occurs as a result of cooking with a deep fryer. An auto dealer is not subject to this type of risk but does require coverage for damage or injury that could occur during test drives.

Here I have done my dashboard and story telling work with insurance data set.
